

Next Generation Leadership Networks: Enhancing District Capacity for Highly Effective Teaching, Learning and Assessment Practices

What

Beginning in the summer of 2016, selected District Leadership Teams (DLT) will be immersed in a model of inquiry- and problem-based learning around a specific locally identified problem of practice related to scaling highly effective teaching, learning and assessment practices.

Selected District Leadership Teams will work alongside other committed DLTs to enhance and enrich their knowledge, skills and practices in Next Generation Leadership Networks.

Who should participate?

District level leaders will hold the responsibility for organizing the district leadership team. Those members, at a minimum, should include:

- Teacher leaders
- School & District level administrators
- Superintendent and/or Chief Academic Officer
- May include: board members, community partners, or others

How

Apply by completing a brief questionnaire and self-assessment that can be found here.

KDE will provide a live webinar to provide support and answer questions on Thursday, May 5, 2016 at 2:00 p.m. EST.

Applications are due by Wednesday, May 18, 2016.

Districts will receive notification of selection no later than Wednesday, May 25, 2016.

To ensure the support series is well aligned to each participating district's needs, after selection districts will complete a 60-minute intake call. This call will help to identify priorities and relevant expertise needed for support. The call will be scheduled when districts are notified of selection.

There will be a $5000 stipend to help offset costs related to the network and addressing the problem of practice.
